

COPY BLOCKS ESSENTIAL UNDERSTANDING

Today, we're going to be looking at the idea of "Copy Blocks". These are the essential building blocks that every single piece of sales copy must contain in order to be effective.

These "Copy Blocks" are often very short phrases or snippets within a headline, sentence, or longer phrase.

THE 5 "COPY BLOCKS":

These 5 'Copy Blocks' are the building blocks that every piece of copy — whether that's a headline, sales letter, email, VSL script, etc. — must contain to be effective.

1. Promises
2. Pain Points
3. Proof
4. Constraints
5. Curiosity (Mechanism)

Here's an example of what these Copy Blocks look like in action.

SAMPLE HEADLINE:

9-Figure Copywriter Reveals New "Wild Card Copywriter" Method That Allows Struggling Freelancers to Land High Paying Clients & Make $10k+/mo...Without Cold Outreach, Upwork or Job Boards

And here are the Copy Blocks within this SAMPLE HEADLINE:

PROOF BLOCK:

"9-Figure Copywriter"

CURIOSITY BLOCK:

"New "Wild Card Copywriter" Method"

PAIN BLOCK:

"Struggling Freelancers"

PROMISE BLOCK:

"Land High Paying Clients & Make $10k+/mo"

CONSTRAINT BLOCK:

"Without Cold Outreach, Upwork or Job Boards"

Notice that we don't consider "filler words" or "connector words" to be part of the Copy Blocks.

We want to take the most concise part of the phrase or sentence that encapsulates the Copy Block - and no more.

We can use the following combinations of characters and symbols to visually mark each Copy Block:

『💎』Promise Block『💎』

『😓』 Pain Block 『😓』

《🎯》Proof Block《🎯》

【🚧】Constraint Block【🚧】

『🔍』 Curiosity Block 『🔍』

Each set will be used to mark both the beginning and the end of every Copy Block phrase.

This is what it would look like in action with our example Headline from above.

SAMPLE HEADLINE WITH VISUAL MARKING:

《🎯》9-Figure Copywriter《🎯》 Reveals 『🔍』 New “Wild Card Copywriter” Method 『🔍』 That Allows 『😓』 Struggling Freelancers 『😓』 to 『💎』Land High Paying Clients & Make $10k+/mo『💎』...【🚧】Without Cold Outreach, Upwork or Job Boards【🚧】

This clearly identifies the Copy Blocks -

Proof Block: 《🎯》9-Figure Copywriter《🎯》

Curiosity Block: 『🔍』 New “Wild Card Copywriter” Method 『🔍』

Pain Block: 『😓』 Struggling Freelancers 『😓』

Promise Block: 『💎』Land High Paying Clients & Make $10k+/mo『💎』

Constraint Block: 【🚧】Without Cold Outreach, Upwork or Job Boards【🚧】

COPY BLOCKS METAPHOR

Here's a metaphor that illustrates how these 5 Copy Blocks work together.

Imagine the prospective customer (customer avatar) is on one side of a canyon - on Pain Plateau.

And they're trying to get to the other side, to the Promised Land.

And you have a bridge that can take them there.

The “Pain Block” is where they're currently located without the offer. They are experiencing the pain of where they are “at” (either physically, psychologically, emotionally, or metaphorically) without their Desired Result. These are the Primary Complaints, Secondary Complaints, and Tertiary Complaints around their Pressing Problem.

The “Promise Block” describes where they’re going - where they want to go. This is their desired end result. This is what they want.

The “Curiosity Block” is like the bridge that takes the customer avatar to the “Promised Land”. This is often the Unique Mechanism, or a phrase alluding to or hinting at the Unique Mechanism. This is a phrase that hints at, and thus evokes curiosity around the question, “What is this new thing and how does it get me out of my current Pain and to the Promise I want, and how is it different from everything else I’ve tried?”

A “Proof Block” is like the trust that allows them to take that first step. This is any sort of evidence that makes the Promise more believable.

And the “Constraints” are like a big backpack of stuff (their “mental baggage”), which needs be removed before the customer avatar will be willing to cross the bridge. These are phrases that address the reasons people feel like they can’t or won’t be able to experience the promised results.

*IMPORTANT NOTE: Every single copy block exists, and therefore can only be properly identified within the context of a specific niche market and specific customer avatar. Each and every market and customer avatar will have unique Pain points, Benefits or Promises that are attractive to them, Constraints in their thinking, and differing sources that they will accept as meaningful authorities or credible Proof. Therefore, in order to properly identify or create Copy Blocks, you must first take into account the psychology of the Customer Avatar, the broader market environment, and the Niche Market Sentiment. Copy Blocks CANNOT EXIST outside of the context of the psychology of the specific customer avatar.

COPY BLOCK DETAILED DESCRIPTIONS

PAIN BLOCKS:

Pain is the current state our prospect is in, that they want to get out of. Pain Blocks are the phrases that describe the Core Problem, Primary Complaint, Secondary and Tertiary Complaints, Fears, Negative Emotions, and Negative Experiences in the Customer Avatar’s life as a result of not having the Offer described in the copy. Pain Blocks describe the opposite life experience from the Promise Blocks.

Here are some Pain Block examples:

1. Weight Loss → 🤔 Stubbish fat and feeling self conscious 🤔
2. Copywriting → 🤔 Struggling to land clients 🤔
3. Men’s Dating → 🤔 Lack of confidence and struggling to attract women 🤔
4. Pet Probiotic → 🤔 Worry about pet’s health and digestive problems 🤔
5. Skincare → 🤔 Increasing wrinkles and feeling older 🤔

Pain Blocks are phrases that mention the problems the customer avatar is experiencing, whether immediately real or fear of future possibilities.

Pain Blocks are NOT any and all phrases that describe the Customer Avatar's current state.

EXAMPLE:

For example, here's a phrase taken from the beginning of a sales letter for a Copywriting offer:

"If you're a brand new copywriter, an experienced copywriter stuck in a rut, or an entrepreneur struggling to move your business to the "next level"... listen up."

It might be tempting to label the following as "Pain Blocks" because they describe the Customer Avatar's current situation:

"brand new copywriter"

"experienced copywriter"

"entrepreneur"

However, each of those phrases represents a "Constraint Block". Each phrase describes an Identity Constraint. Notice how each of these would complete the idea, "this offer isn't for me because I'm a/an..."

"this offer isn't for me because I'm a...【🚧】brand new copywriter【🚧】"

"this offer isn't for me because I'm an...【🚧】experienced copywriter【🚧】"

"this offer isn't for me because I'm an...【🚧】entrepreneur【🚧】"

The Pain Blocks are actually these phrases:

Pain Blocks:

【😞】 "stuck in a rut" 【😞】

【😞】 "struggling to move your business to the "next level"" 【😞】

This sentence is made up of a combination of Constraint Blocks and Pain Blocks.

Here's the full sentence with each Copy Block clearly marked:

"If you're a 【🚧】brand new copywriter【🚧】, an 【🚧】experienced copywriter【🚧】 【😞】 stuck in a rut 【😞】, or an 【🚧】entrepreneur【🚧】 【😞】 struggling to move your business to the "next level" 【😞】 ... listen up."

[END EXAMPLE]

Pain Blocks are phrases describing the negative experience of living a life with the Core Problem or Pressing Problem. This can include things the Customer Avatar must do because of the Core Problem, but does not want to do. It includes the psychological and emotional pain of events and scenarios, whether real or imagined, and whether immediate or fears being realized in the future.

PROMISE BLOCKS:

Promise Blocks are phrases that represent the end result the customer avatar wants.

Promise Blocks describe the outcome the Customer Avatar desires, what they crave, and how their life will be transformed after using the product or service.

Promise Blocks show the Customer Avatar's Desired Outcome. The experience of living life on the other side of the Transformational experience after buying the Offer. Promise Blocks describe the benefits of their new status.

Promise Blocks can take several forms:

Direct Benefit Statements: Clear, concise descriptions of what the customer will gain.

Example: 『💎』Reduce wrinkles by up to 40% in just 4 weeks『💎』

Vivid Future Descriptions: Rich, detailed portrayals of the customer's life after achieving the promised results.

Example: 『💎』Imagine waking up each morning, looking in the mirror, and seeing a reflection that looks 10 years younger. Your friends ask what your secret is, and you smile, knowing it's just 3 minutes a day with Skin Spectra.『💎』

Emotional Transformations: Descriptions of how the customer will feel after using the product.

Example: 『💎』Feel confident and radiant in your own skin again『💎』

Promise Blocks often form by reversing the ideas found in the Pain Blocks. They can be generic promises - things people want described in general terms - or more specific, digging deeper into various facets such as features, benefits, dimensionalized benefits, emotional benefits, outcomes, and more.

Promise Blocks may speak to the logical or emotional aspects of the promise, or both. The most effective Promise Blocks not only state what the product or service will do but also help the customer envision their transformed future, making the benefits more tangible and real.

Here are some examples of Promise Blocks for different industries:

1. Weight Loss → 『💎』Achieve a slim, toned physique『💎』
2. Copywriting → 『💎』Attract high-paying clients consistently『💎』
3. Men's Dating → 『💎』Gain confidence in approaching women『💎』
4. Pet Probiotic → 『💎』Fix your dog's gut health『💎』
5. Skincare → 『💎』Achieve radiant, youthful-looking skin『💎』

For example, here are some deeper and more specific Promise Blocks for a copywriting program:

1. Features → 『💎』Proven strategies to attract high-paying clients『💎』
2. Benefits → 『💎』Land copywriting clients on autopilot『💎』
3. Dimensionalized Benefits → 『💎』Sipping Mai Tais at the beach while working 2 hours on your laptop『💎』
4. Emotional Benefits → 『💎』Enjoy the freedom of working only 2 hours a day『💎』
5. Outcomes → 『💎』Make $10k/mo with copywriting『💎』

Promise Blocks include phrases or sentences that take the basic, overarching benefits desired by a large market segment, and bringing those benefits “to life” in a way the Customer Avatar can actually FEEL their situation improving in real, tangible, specific and situational ways.

When done well, these Promise Blocks progressively layer and connect the various dimensions of desire for a specific target market. They employ vivid, sensory-rich language and storytelling to help the Customer Avatar envision themselves in a specific, desirable future scenario.

Promise Blocks can take different forms.

Here’s an example from the Fat Loss market:

- 1) General Overarching Benefit - [This Is The General Result We’re Promising]

Ex: 『💎』“You’ll lose 48lbs effortlessly.”『💎』

- 2) Vivid Language (Using a Triplet) [This is the direct, dimensionalized impact of achieving the specific result in step 1- the benefits that come FROM the initial benefit]

『💎』“The fat will melt from your love handles, thighs, arms and more.

You’ll feel flooded with energy.

And love the way you look.”『💎』

- 3) Dimensional Language [This is how our prospects EXPERIENCE the result in their daily life. Should include SOCIAL reactions from others]

『💎』“When you look at yourself in the mirror, you’ll crack a little smile and think to yourself, I’ve never looked this good before.

Or you’ll see your husband watch you as you walk to the bathroom in your tight black dress.”『💎』

- 4) Transformative Language [Clearly Show How Achieving The Desired Outcome Changes Our Prospect’s Identity In A Specific And Favorable Way]

『💎』“You’ll feel fully in love with yourself... who you are... knowing that you’re everything you were always meant to be.”『💎』

[End Of Desire Daisy Chain Structure Example]

Here’s another example in the Gut Health Market:

General Benefit

『💎』You’ll finally break free from the prison of your own gut.『💎』

Vivid Language (Using a Triplet)

『💎』“No more living in fear of your next meal.

No more anxiety about sudden, urgent bathroom trips.

No more feeling like your body is betraying you."『💎』

Dimensional Language

『💎』"Imagine the freedom of effortlessly enjoying a night out with friends, savoring every bite without worry.

Picture yourself radiating confidence at work, no longer held back by the nagging discomfort in your belly.

Visualize the joy of planning a spontaneous weekend getaway, knowing your gut won't ruin your plans."『💎』

Emotional Language

『💎』"You'll feel like you've been given a second chance at life, liberated from the shackles of your uncooperative gut.

Every day will feel like a gift, filled with newfound appreciation for the simple pleasures you once took for granted.

You'll finally be able to show up as your true self, unburdened by the shame and isolation of gut issues."『💎』

[End Of Gut Health Example]

Example 3: Sleep Market

General Benefit

『💎』You'll finally experience the deep, restful sleep you've been craving.『💎』

Vivid Language (Using a Triplet)

『💎』You'll drift off effortlessly, sinking into a peaceful slumber.

You'll wake up feeling refreshed and rejuvenated.

And you'll start your day with energy and enthusiasm.『💎』

Dimensional Language

『💎』Imagine the look of surprise on your partner's face when you're the first one out of bed, brewing coffee and preparing breakfast. They'll marvel at your newfound energy and the radiant glow on your face.『💎』

Emotional Language

『💎』As your coworkers comment on your improved focus and productivity, you'll smile knowingly. You'll feel a sense of pride and accomplishment, knowing that you've taken control of your well-being and unlocked your true potential.

With each restful night, you'll feel your confidence soar. No longer weighed down by exhaustion and brain fog, you'll approach challenges with a clear mind and a positive outlook. You'll become the best version of yourself – energized, focused, and ready to take on the world.『💎』

[End Of Sleep Example]

It's important to recognize that Promise Blocks can take many forms.

Promise Blocks are phrases describing the positive experience of living a life without the Core Problem or Pressing Problem. These phrases describe a Transformed life. This can include things the Customer Avatar is no longer required to do because the Core Problem has been removed. It includes the psychological and emotional joy and freedom of events and scenarios, whether real or imagined, and whether immediate or visualizing future benefits.

Remember, Promise Blocks are about painting a picture of the Customer Avatar's Desired Outcome from every Dimension - the experience of living life on the other side of the transformational experience after buying the Offer.

PROOF BLOCKS:

Proof Blocks are phrases that give the customer avatar a reason WHY they should believe the offer will deliver the Promised Desired Results.

Proof Blocks provide evidence that the offer “will work for them because...”

Proof Blocks can take many forms:

1. Credibility
2. Social Proof
3. Testimonials
4. Studies
5. Endorsements
6. Case Studies
7. Before and After
8. Demonstrations

And a whole lot more.

Proof Blocks are any statement that indicates a REASON WHY the prospect should believe they can (will) get the benefits given in the Promise Blocks.

Testimonials and Endorsements, if a direct quote, will often be used in whole as a single “Proof Block”. Likewise, Studies, Case Studies, and Demonstrations can be marked in whole as a “Proof Block”. However, these quotes or longer sections of text may also include additional types of Copy Blocks within them.

Here are 3 quotes that each form a Proof Block:

«🌀»"Before CopyHour I was living in a dumpy apartment trying to make ends meet. Since CopyHour, I've sold over $100mm worth of products and services with sales letters and email. CopyHour is the foundation that got me here."«🌀»

«🌀»"My return on investment with CopyHour has been over 15,000x, starting from scratch...."I know a lot of folks who have done CopyHour and also all gotten scary good in a short amount of time."«🌀»

«🌀»"Before CopyHour I was on track to get a PhD in biology. With the help of CopyHour, I quit and became the copy chief for PaleoHacks, a multi-million dollar health business... making BANK, working when I want and where I want."«🌀»

Each of these testimonial quotes forms a “Proof Block”.

However, you may notice that there are additional types of Copy Blocks contained within each of these quotes:

«🎯»"Before CopyHour I was 🧐 living in a dumpy apartment trying to make ends meet 🧐 . Since CopyHour, I've 💎 sold over $100mm worth of products and services with sales letters and email💎. CopyHour is the foundation that got me here."«🎯»

«🎯»"My 💎 return on investment with CopyHour has been over 15,000x💎, 🚧 starting from scratch🚧...."I know a lot of folks who have done CopyHour and also all 💎 gotten scary good in a short amount of time💎."«🎯»

«🎯»"Before CopyHour I was 🧐 on track to get a PhD in biology 🧐 . With the help of CopyHour, I quit and became the 💎 copy chief for PaleoHacks, a multi-million dollar health business... making BANK, working when I want and where I want💎."«🎯»

And throughout the copy (outside of the direct quote testimonials), there will be smaller phrases that are Proof Blocks.

Here are some examples from a copywriting offer:

«🎯»Join 3000+ students«🎯»

«🎯»CopyHour has trained some of today's best copywriters«🎯»

«🎯»For more than a decade I've trained some of the world's best copywriters«🎯» — «🎯» people who have gone on to generate more than $100mm each with their copy for themselves and other businesses«🎯»

"And I've been «🎯»teaching it all these years«🎯» with just three simple steps."

"I've got «🎯»over $800mm+ in student results«🎯» to prove it."

«🎯»CopyHour students have generated more than $800mm+ in sales for businesses in dozens of verticals.«🎯»

Here are some more examples of Proof Blocks:

«🎯»FDA approved«🎯»

«🎯»doctor-endorsed«🎯»

«🎯»Harvard scientists«🎯»

It's important to keep in mind that whether or not a phrase is considered a Proof Block depends on what the specific Customer Avatar for the Offer in question might consider positive evidence that this will work for them or a reason why they should believe the Promise Blocks.

For example, "9-Figure Copywriter" would be considered a Proof Block for a copywriting offer, because this lends Credibility to the following headline:

«🎯»9-Figure Copywriter«🎯» Reveals 🔍 New "Wild Card Copywriter" Method 🔍 That Allows 🧐 Struggling Freelancers 🧐 to 💎 Land High Paying Clients & Make $10k+/mo💎...🚧Without Cold Outreach, Upwork or Job Boards🚧

However, the phrase "9-Figure Copywriter" would not add any credibility if the copy were speaking to a Customer Avatar about a medical-related offer. A "9-Figure Copywriter" doesn't bring any Authority or Credibility to the Medical field.

Likewise, the phrase “Portugal’s Most Notorious Playboy” becomes a Proof Block only in the context of a dating offer for young men:

《🎯》Portugal’s Most Notorious Playboy《🎯》 Reveals How to Go From 🧐 Struggling With Women 🧐 to 💎 Effortlessly Dating High-Quality 9’s and 10’s💎 Using the 🔍 “Automatic Attraction” System 🔍 (Works 🚧 Without Being Rich, Famous or Even Good Looking🚧)

And in some instances, a phrase that serves as a Proof Block to a specific Customer Avatar for a specific Offer, will become an “anti-credential” or the opposite of a Proof Block for a different Customer Avatar/different offer.

Oftentimes, Offers for natural health alternatives will cast the established, conventional medical and scientific communities as the villains. “Doctors”, “FDA”, or “scientists” become the Enemies of the Customer Avatar, and thus references to them throughout the copy for that offer would NOT serve as Proof Blocks.

When properly identifying Proof Blocks in copy, it is critical to use the Context of the Customer Avatar, Desired Result, Offer, Promises, and Constraints as the lens through which to interpret which phrases and sections of text comprise a Proof Block.

Remember, a Proof Block is any phrase that gives the Customer Avatar evidence or a reason WHY they should believe the Offer will deliver the Promised Desired Results, or why the Offer will work for THEM (and not only for others).

CONSTRAINT BLOCKS:

Constraint Blocks are any phrases that identify or address anything that might hinder our Customer Avatar from embracing the Promise Blocks or the Curiosity Blocks and experiencing the desired outcome.

A “Constraint” is any idea the customer avatar might come up with as a reason for not buying.

These are the little objections and conversations they have with themselves (consciously or subconsciously) that stop them from making a buying decision.

In sales, these are called “objections”.

(These should be potential objections [Customer Avatar] might have to the Unique Solution, reasons they might not think they should buy this product/service. These aren’t complaints users have had about the product/service. The [Objections] should be imagined objections to purchasing this type of product/service.)

For example, for a copywriting offer, here’s a Promise and some example objections that are born out of Constraints.

Offer with Promise:

“Hey, I’m going to show you how to make $10k/mo as a copywriter.”

The customer avatar might react with the following objections because of certain types of Constraints:

1. 🚧 But I'm not a good writer🚧 (Identity Constraint)
2. 🚧 Cold outreach doesn't work🚧 (Experience Constraint)
3. 🚧 I have to be extroverted to get clients🚧 (Belief Constraint)
4. 🚧 I don't want to have to sell scammy products🚧 (Value Constraint)
5. 🚧 I just don't have time outside my job right now🚧 (Resource Constraint)

"Constraints" are what stop people from buying.

Constraint Blocks are thus any phrases that hint at, allude to, or specifically call out these Constraints and Objections.

These might be referenced positively or negatively.

For example, both of these Constraint Blocks below address the Resource Constraint of 🚧 "not having enough time"🚧:

Positive Constraint Block:

🚧 "in only 3 minutes a day"🚧

Negative Constraint Block:

🚧 "without spending hours every single day"🚧

Constraint Blocks can take the form of explicitly stating the Constraint, they might allude to the Constraint without mentioning it explicitly, or they might address the Constraint by doing what salespeople would call "handling the objection".

Here are some questions and statements that can help identify Constraint Blocks as the phrases that label, identify, call out, address, solve or handle these various types of constraints:

IDENTITY CONSTRAINTS → Who do our prospects see themselves as? And what do they see themselves as CAPABLE of?

VALUES CONSTRAINTS → What do our prospects actually VALUE? And does YOUR product deliver the outcome they actually WANT?

BELIEF CONSTRAINTS → What are our Prospects' Limited BELIEFS attached to their inability to solve the problem? These include both INTERNAL (beliefs about themselves) and EXTERNAL (beliefs about solutions/the market/problem as a whole

EXPERIENCE CONSTRAINTS (MEMORIES) → How has our prospects PAST experiences ("memories") RESTRICTED their capability of envisioning a future where they've solved the problem?

RESOURCE CONSTRAINTS (I CAN'T DO X, BECAUSE I LACK Y) → What does our prospect feel that they are LACKING (that they think is required to solve the problem)? Can be physical, trait-based, skill-based, or related to assets such as time, energy, money, or experience/reputation.

These "Constraints" are perceived limitations that our prospects feel will PREVENT them from solving the problem/getting the desired outcome.

Whether or not these Constraints are "factual" or not is irrelevant. These Constraints are 100% real in the Customer Avatar's mind. Constraint Blocks help guide the Customer Avatar toward making a decision/taking an action that will help solve their problem by recognizing, identifying, and addressing the Constraints the Customer Avatar is operating from.

Constraint Blocks address and minimize perceived obstacles to achieving the desired outcome, including:

- Time Delay
- Effort required
- Sacrifices needed
- Resource limitations (money, skills, etc.)
- Other potential objections

Example of a refined Constraint Block: Lose 20lbs 🚧 in just 6 weeks with only 3 minutes a day, no complicated routines to learn, and you can keep enjoying your favorite foods 🚧

This single block addresses Time Delay, Effort, and Sacrifice all at once, showing how the offer minimizes each.

Constraints are sometimes implied and addressed over the space of a few sentences, without a distinct phrase being able to be labeled as a “Constraint Block”.

Take this testimonial for example:

«🎯» "Too many 🚧 newbie copywriters 🚧 put the cart before the horse. They're so 🤔 worried about finding clients 🤔 that they forget the best way to 💎 get clients 💎 in the first place is to 💎 be really freaking good at copywriting 💎." «🎯»

Hidden within this quote (which is itself a Proof Block) is a BELIEF CONSTRAINT: “🚧 finding clients is the most important thing for a copywriter 🚧”

This quote addresses the Constraint and removes it as an obstacle to buying for the Customer Avatar by positioning what the Offer promises (getting good at copywriting) as the means to getting what the Customer Avatar believes is most important (getting clients).

This testimonial is a Proof Block, but it also doubles as a Constraint Block.

So, I would mark it like this:

«🎯» 🚧 "Too many 🚧 newbie copywriters 🚧 put the cart before the horse. They're so 🤔 worried about finding clients 🤔 that they forget the best way to 💎 get clients 💎 in the first place is to 💎 be really freaking good at copywriting 💎." 🚧 «🎯»

|| 🧬 HIDDEN CONSTRAINT: 🚧 finding clients is the most important thing for a copywriter 🚧 || 🧬 ||

CURIOSITY BLOCKS:

Curiosity Blocks are BY FAR the most important type of “Copy Block” to understand correctly.

Curiosity Blocks are the basis of getting attention. But it's a very specific type of curiosity.

In Direct Response, we're SPECIFICALLY looking for curiosity around the Pain and Promise.

We want to pique the customer avatar's curiosity around something NEW that's going to bridge the gap between where they're at... and where they want to go.

A “Curiosity Block” is often the name for the Unique Mechanism, or a phrase alluding to or hinting at the Unique Mechanism, or a part of the mechanism.

This is a phrase that hints at, and thus evokes curiosity around the question, “What is this new thing and how does it get me out of my current Pain and to the Promise I want, and how is it different from everything else I’ve tried?”

The essence of “Curiosity” when we’re talking about Direct Response always goes back to their primary Pain Point...and the primary Promise we’re trying to make.

So “Curiosity Blocks” often have to do with the mechanism, vehicle or new solution you’re presenting.

So in a headline, for instance, Curiosity Blocks might look like this:

1. Weight Loss → 🔍 The “Ozempic Killer” 🔍
2. Copywriting → 🔍 “Invisible Outreach” Method 🔍
3. Men’s Dating → 🔍 “High-Achiever’s Paradox” 🔍
4. Pet Probiotic → 🔍 “Dinner Time Trick” 🔍
5. Skincare → 🔍 “Ageless Glow” Activator 🔍

Remember, we’re not just aiming for any kind of curiosity. We want motivated attention that’s going to lead to somebody opening up their wallet and actually paying for something. This is the kind of curiosity that drives conversions and sales.

Notice what these masters of Direct Response said about Curiosity Blocks:

“The secret to Direct Response copy is to call out their existing pain points, promise a solution to their existing problems and 🔍 distinguish that this solution is different from anything else they’ve ever tried 🔍 .” — Stefan Georgi, $1BN Copywriter

“This new opportunity is the key to their desire and it’s 🔍 attainable only through my new mechanism 🔍 .” — Evaldo Albuquerque, 16 Word Sales Letter

Curiosity in our prospect is created by the “gap” between pain and promise.

This curiosity gap can be created using The Big Mechanism. This is usually the Unique Mechanism of the Problem or Unique Mechanism of the Solution.

But it can also be created using devices such as Tips, Tricks, or Secrets. E.g., “I’ll show you a two-second egg trick you can use to help your dogs.”

And Information formatted (or hinted at) in different curiosity-inciting ways. For example, creating Open Loops → “In a moment I’ll show you this...”

Or using Fascinations → which create curiosity loops to keep people reading...

Here are some additional aspects and nuanced ways to create this curiosity:

1. Curiosity Around the Main Mechanism (Pain → Promise)

- a. UMP Characterization (Real Problem)
 - b. UMS Characterization (Real Solution)
2. Curiosity to Keep People Reading
 - a. Fascinations
 - b. Open Loops
3. Curiosity Around “Partial” Solutions (Tips, Secrets, Ingredients → Usually Fulfilling Fascinations → Usually INFO)
4. Curiosity In ASPECTS of the Solution
 - a. Ingredients...
 - b. Modules...

Other curiosity elements will often be found in MICRO-LEADS / RHETORICAL FRAMES →

- Information Gap
- Full Solution
- Partial Solutions
- Odd Connections/Metaphors

And curiosity is often caused by the tension in REVEALING/CONCEALING →

- Promising just enough information...
- But not giving it away...

This is done on a SPECTRUM (Blind → Obvious)

EXAMPLES:

- Blind = Weird 7-Second “Secret”
- Evocative (in the middle) = 7-Min “Morning Cocktail”
- Obvious = Ashwagandha

BLIND ←X→ OBVIOUS

The best ones are typically somewhere toward the middle of the spectrum. It reveals just enough to not

Evocative Mechanisms →

“Muscle Confusion”

“Metabolic Reset”

“Hidden Constipation”

Here are some more examples of Curiosity Blocks:

CURIOSITY BLOCKS:

- 🔍 Simple 3-Step Method 🔍
- 🔍 The Handwriting Technique 🔍 (copywriting offer to make someone better at writing direct response copy)
- 🔍 Hypnotic Writing 🔍
- 🔍 The ASK Method 🔍

Within the context of a full headline, here are more Curiosity Blocks marked with “ 🔍 ”:

《🎯》9-Figure Copywriter《🎯》 Reveals 🔍 New “Wild Card Copywriter” Method 🔍 That Allows 😞 Struggling Freelancers 😞 to 💎 Land High Paying Clients & Make $10k+/mo💎...【🚧】Without Cold Outreach, Upwork or Job Boards【🚧】

《🎯》Portugal's Most Notorious Playboy《🎯》 Reveals How to Go From 😞 Struggling With Women 😞 to 💎 Effortlessly Dating High-Quality 9's and 10's💎 Using the 🔍 “Automatic Attraction” System 🔍 (Works 【🚧】Without Being Rich, Famous or Even Good Looking【🚧】)

And here are some more Curiosity Blocks pulled from the sales letter for a Copywriting offer that promises to make someone better at writing direct response copy:

🔍 good copy is extremely formulaic 🔍
🔍 some of the most successful letters ever written are some of the most "boring". 🔍
🔍 If you "hard-wire" those same persuasive fundamentals into your head to the point that they're as natural to you as speaking, you can do the same. 🔍
🔍 Instead of just reading and immediately forgetting what you've read, you're actively programming muscle memory associated with those lessons into your head. 🔍
🔍 It programs your brain to think in winning copy. 🔍
🔍 The difference between "pro-level", seven figure, copy and amateur-level copy is often simply the use (or lack of use) of 9 different types of proof. 🔍
🔍 Almost no copywriter writes from scratch. 🔍

Notice how all of these address some aspect of bridging the gap between the pain point and the promise without giving away the full picture.

Remember, Curiosity Blocks hint at, and thus evoke curiosity around one or more aspects of this question: “What is this new thing and how does it get me out of my current Pain and to the Promise I want, and how is it different from everything else I’ve tried?”

ADDITIONAL COPY BLOCK EXAMPLES

Below are some additional examples with the Copy Blocks marked using the same convention defined earlier in the document:

💎 Promise Block 💎

😞 Pain Block 😞

《🎯》Proof Block《🎯》

【🚧】Constraint Block【🚧】

🔍 Curiosity Block 🔍

Each set will be used to mark both the beginning and the end of every Copy Block phrase for easy identification.

EXAMPLE A1 —

🔍 This ancient tribe 🔍 achieved 💎 effortless weight loss 💎 🚫 without the help of modern diets or exercise fads 🚫.

🎯 Harvard Scientists 🎯 have tipped the hat to their amazing solution...

So if you 😞 can't seem to lose those stubborn pounds 😞 ... pay close attention...

Because this video is the final weight loss solution you'll need to 💎 restore your youthful metabolism 💎 in 🚫 less than two weeks 🚫.

EXAMPLE A2 —

😞 Can't lose weight 😞 ? 🎯 Harvard scientists 🎯 SHOCKED that this 🔍 ancient tribal "dragon berry" trick 🔍 💎 reignites a stubborn metabolism 💎 🚫 practically overnight 🚫.

EXAMPLE A3 —

😞 Fat? 😞 🎯 Harvard 🎯 🔍 "lemondrops" 🔍 💎 cure fat 💎 🚫 overnight 🚫.

EXAMPLE A4 —

🎯 Scientists 🎯 Reveal a 🔍 3-Step Method 🔍 to Go From 😞 Not Being Able to Land a Date 😞 to 💎 Dating More Women 💎 🚫 (Without Swiping on Tinder) 🚫

EXAMPLE B1 —

For this example, I'm going to list out Pains, Promises, Proof, Constraints, and Curiosity elements that apply to a specific YouTube offer. Then, I'll mark up the copy for an email to this customer Avatar identifying the various Copy Blocks used in the email.

PAINS:

- #1 Struggling to start or grow a successful YouTube channel or online business
- #2 Lack of knowledge, strategies, or inspiration to turn creative pursuits into a profitable venture
- #3 Wasted time, money, and energy on failed YouTube pursuits, leading to self-doubt
- #4 Widespread problem of YouTube success, with thousands of small channels struggling
- #5 Burnout from consistently posting videos without the right strategies

PROMISES:

- #1 Turn a creative side hustle or business into a financially successful venture, inspired by the speaker's own journey
- #2 Gain rare insights from the speaker's dual expertise as a successful doctor and YouTuber/online entrepreneur

#3 Learn from someone who started pursuing online businesses at a young age (13) and persevered through failures to find success in his 20s

#4 Discover counterintuitive but effective YouTube growth strategies that defy conventional advice

#5 Get insider wisdom based on private knowledge gained from connecting with other highly successful online entrepreneurs

PROOF:

#1 Speaker's own financial success on YouTube, earning $716,691 from Skillshare and $391,135.30 from YouTube AdSense

#2 Speaker's 74 million video views, 6.2 million hours of watch time, and 1.1 million subscribers

#3 The Part-Time YouTuber Academy generating $2.5 million in revenue in a single year

#4 Teaching over 1000 students in the Part-Time YouTuber Academy with "amazing reviews" and only 2 refund requests

#5 Testimonial of a course graduate who went from 0 to $5,000/month in YouTube income in under 90 days using the strategies

CONSTRAINTS:

#1 Belief that you need fancy camera equipment and editing to succeed on YouTube

#2 Thinking that short-form content (< 5 min) is the only way to get views

#3 Concern about the time, money, and effort required to implement the strategies

#4 Skepticism about the speaker's credibility or the effectiveness of the unique strategies

#5 Worry that the information may be taken down soon due to potential legal pressure from YouTube

CURIOSITY (MECHANISM):

#1 A set of counterintuitive but effective YouTube growth strategies that defy conventional advice

#2 The "cheat codes" to the YouTube algorithm that give you an unfair advantage

#3 A simple 3-step system to grow your YouTube channel on autopilot, even if you only spend 1 hour a day on it

#4 Surprising scientific insights about human attention spans that inform the strategies

#5 "Ethically addictive" psychological tactics to keep viewers hooked on your content because the videos are that good

EMAIL:

Subject: The 🔍 "Ugly YouTuber" Revolution 🔍 : Why 🧑🏿‍🎤 Polished Content 🧑🏿‍🎤 is 🤖 Killing Your Channel 🤖 (And How to 💎 Profit 💎 from 🧑🏿‍🎤 Imperfection 🧑🏿‍🎤)

🧑🏿‍🎤 Stop trying to be "professional" on camera 🧑🏿‍🎤.

🧑🏿‍🎤 Imperfection is the new authenticity. 🧑🏿‍🎤

And it's the 🔍 secret sauce 🔍 behind 📈 my $716,691 Skillshare earnings, $391,135.30 YouTube AdSense revenue, and 74 million views 📈.

I know, it sounds crazy. But hear me out...

🧑🏿‍🎤 Fancy equipment? Waste of money. 🧑🏿‍🎤

🧑🏿‍🎤 Perfect editing? Total time-suck. 🧑🏿‍🎤

🧑🏿‍🎤 Short-form content? Dead end. 🧑🏿‍🎤

🧑🏿‍🎤 Constant posting? Recipe for burnout. 🧑🏿‍🎤

👤 Everything you've been told about succeeding on YouTube is dead wrong. 👤

🎯 I've seen thousands of small channels 🎯 🤔 struggle, wasting time and money on "conventional wisdom" that simply doesn't work 🤔 . Maybe you're one of them. Maybe you're 🤔 on the verge of giving up 🤔 , 👤 thinking you don't have what it takes 👤 .

But what if I told you that 👤 your imperfections are actually your greatest asset 👤 ?

🎯 I've taught over 1000 students 🎯 a 🔍 counterintuitive 3-step system that's so powerful, YouTube might shut it down 🔍 . Our 🔍 Part-Time YouTuber Academy 🔍 🎯 generated $2.5 million in a single year, with only 2 refund requests 🎯 .

🎯 One student went from $0 to $5k/month in just 90 days. 🎯

How?

By 🔍 leveraging "ethically addictive" psychological tactics that keep viewers glued to their screens 🔍 . It's all based on 🔍 surprising scientific insights about human attention spans that most creators ignore 🔍 .

The best part? It 👤 only takes 1 hour a day 👤 .

No more 🤔 wasted time, money, and energy on failed YouTube pursuits 🤔 . No more 🤔 self-doubt or burnout 🤔 from 👤 posting videos without the right strategies 👤 .

Here's a taste of what you'll discover:

1. 🔍 Why 👤 "amateur" content 👤 often outperforms professional productions 🔍
2. The 🔍 counterintuitive truth about video length (hint: 👤 shorter isn't always better 👤) 🔍
3. How to 🔍 create "binge-worthy" content that 💎 keeps viewers coming back for more 💎 🔍
4. The 🔍 simple trick to make 💎 YouTube's algorithm fall in love with your channel 💎 🔍
5. 🔍 Why your 👤 day job or "boring" life 👤 might be your ticket to 💎 YouTube stardom 💎 🔍

I 👤 started pursuing online businesses at 13 and failed countless times 👤 before 💎 cracking the code 💎 in my 20s. Now, I'm revealing the 🔍 "cheat codes" to the YouTube algorithm that give you an 💎 unfair advantage 💎 🔍 .

But here's the kicker: 👤 this isn't just about YouTube 👤 . It's about 💎 turning your creative side hustle into a financially successful venture 💎 . It's about 💎 building a sustainable online business that gives you the freedom to live life on your terms 💎 .

Imagine 💎 waking up to thousands of new subscribers, your inbox flooded with collaboration offers, and your bank account growing while you sleep 💎 . 👤 It's not a pipe dream. 👤 🎯 It's exactly what's happening for our students right now. 🎯

👤 You might be thinking, "But I'm not an expert in anything. Who would want to watch me?"

That's exactly what I thought when I started. But I discovered that expertise isn't about knowing everything. It's about being one step ahead of your audience and sharing your journey authentically.

Your imperfections, your struggles, your unique perspective – that's what will set you apart in a sea of polished, forgettable content.【🚧】

>>> Click here to discover how to 『💎』grow your YouTube channel on autopilot『💎』 before this gets taken down

PS: 《🎯》My unique background as both a successful doctor AND 7-figure YouTuber gives you access to insider wisdom you won't find anywhere else《🎯》. But act fast – 『🔍』 this knowledge is too valuable (and potentially disruptive) to stay public for long 『🔍』 .

PPS: Still skeptical? Remember, 【🚧】imperfection is your secret weapon. Ditch the belief that you need to be "polished" to succeed. Your authenticity is your superpower. The world is waiting for the real, unfiltered you.【🚧】 Are you ready to show up?

[END EXAMPLE B1]

[END COPY BLOCKS ESSENTIAL UNDERSTANDING]